Lynsay Sands: The Argeneau Vampires

The Argeneau family is very extensive and they are all vampires. There are little nanos in their blood that heal all damage done to their bodies (including aging), but these nanos require blood. That is why they have become "vampires" to survive. To keep the numbers down, a vampire can only "turn" one person in their whole life. Usually this person is their mate, which is someone whose mind they cannot read. Will everyone in the family find their mate?
